

Advanced and Performance courses

These courses aim to guide you progressively to autonomy and serve as an introduction to thermal flying.

Program

- On the first day we go on the school slope to validate your inflating skills (except if we know you and you've flown with us recently). We also go through the flight plan if you don't know it.
- On the next days we fly every morning, when the conditions are still calm. We normally get in 2 or 3 flights every morning, with some exercises adapted to your level. On the last one, depending on your level and on the conditions, you can take thermals to stay longer in the air.
- at the beginning of the afternoon we do flight theory (thermal piloting, weather analysis,...) or practice ground-handling in the wind (fun, and really important to improve your piloting!)
- at the end of the day, if the conditions are good and if the level of the group allows it, we can try an evening flight

The goal is to lead you to autonomy, by giving less and less indications over the radio. During the 5 days courses, we go to different sites to practice adaptation to different take offs and landings.

When you reach the level of the pilot's licence, you can pass it with us, just ask us.

Duration: if you can, it's better to do a 5 days course, to get in many flights and have time to improve. But we also organise courses on week-ends, or you can join a part of a course if it's not full.
